

SPRING 2009

STORIES

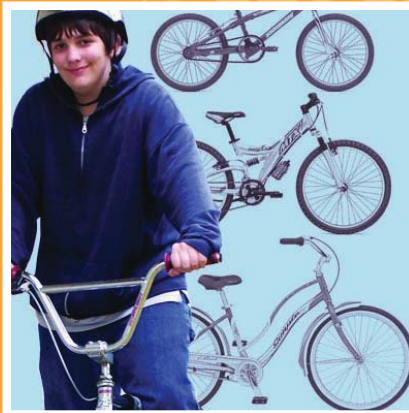

Find these stories and more on your credit union's web site

TEENAGERS GIVE WHERE IT MATTERS

Teenagers are working to help our country develop a new economy that runs on clean, renewable resources—and you're starting online!

Do you want to find your cause, get the facts, and do something about it? Visit Dosomething.org, a site that takes your good intentions from the web onto the streets.

Here's a simple step you can take, right now: buy and donate your used clothing. You'll help your family save a lot of money, help strengthen our clean energy economy, and look good!

Instead of expensive new clothing, look for:

- ▶ Your favorite clothes on sale and from discount stores;
- ▶ Unique clothes from second-hand stores that specialize in teenage tastes.

And don't stop there—donate your used clothes in good condition to help homeless teenagers. When you visit Dosomething.org, check out Teens for Jeans!

Donate your used clothes in good condition to help homeless teenagers.

DREAM MACHINES

The era of gas guzzlers is drawing to a close. No one knows what future cars will look like. In twenty years, you'll look back on contemporary vehicles and laugh.

Here's a rewarding and inexpensive hobby: collect automobile brochures! Auto dealers are eager to get rid of their pamphlets describing the latest Hogpower Twelve or Jumbo SUV!

Start your collection now, concentrating on American cars. If General Motors, Chrysler, and Ford bite the dust, your artifacts could become valuable.

Motorcycle brochures are even more fun. Motorized two-wheel travel is going to become much more popular.

There is a huge variety of motorcycle types: single-cylinder, double, triple, four-cylinder, even six-cylinder motorcycles.

It's fun just to look at them!

MONEY TRICKS

Money Trick 5. Compare interest rates

Ask your credit union to help you compare the interest rates of different investment accounts. You'll get the best value for the money you want to save or invest.

EARN $440!

Develop your skills from home! AJ's is seeking enthusiastic teenagers to join our Super Youth Team. For details, e-mail Kelsey Balcaitis at kbalcaitis@cuna.coop before April 6, 2009.

SEARCH

Click on Money Tricks, read stories, take the Reader Poll and more! Visit AJ's in Googolplex on your credit union's web site.

